"I had the idea to do a soul tribute album for probably the last twenty years," shares Brown. "When the opportunity came up, we jumped on it. We went down to Muscle Shoals, the heartbeat of soul music. Billy Lawson (co-producer) and I cut fourteen tracks and I started asking friends to sing on it with me. We made ten duets in total. This album was a lot of fun. We cut it to be authentic to the mid-60s. We used the same instrumentation, the horn sections, and we even used some of the instruments and equipment that were used on the original tracks at the historic Fame Studios. I think this is the "truest" album possible."

"The first single, "The Dark End Of The Street" is one of the greatest cheating songs ever written," continues Brown. "I wanted Tanya Tucker on it because we are old friends. We have done duets before, including one big hit. She's sultry, and I knew this was the perfect song for us to do together...she said yes....and she did an awesome job on it."

Brown recently received the prestigious invitation from Vince Gill to join the esteemed Grand Ole Opry, marking a milestone in his legendary journey. The official induction will occur on Friday, May 3rd, at the Grand Ole Opry House in Nashville, Tennessee.
